Tulpi-Design

~ Applied Art - Optima Flora ~

Tulpi-Design was established in 2011 and is run by designer Marco Manders and his team of creative professionals and interns.

Tulpi-Design is a typical Dutch design studio, with a flair for quirky, innovative and playful design for indoor and outdoor environments. Tulpi-Design achieved international recognition with their Tulpi-Seats, based on the Dutch national flower, the tulip. Tulpi-Seats have been planted all over the world and their popularity continues to grow.

The designs confirm the Netherland's reputation for high quality design and manufacture.

Tulpi-Design's visionary creations are genuinely eye catching!

Tulpi-Seat

~Tulipa Sedes~

Everyone knows tulips. They are a great inspiration to many creative people, including artist and designer Marco Manders. While imagining alternative ideas for modern urban furniture he became inspired by the simple tulip. The result is the Tulpi-Seat; tulip-shaped artwork that you can sit on. He developed his innovative idea into a seat with aesthetic value; a product that is both user-friendly and environmentally friendly.

Design

The Tulpi-Seat, art in the shape of a tulip, is an outdoor seat that combines user and environmental friendliness with real aesthetic value.

This colorful design is an international award winning masterpiece, a perfect combination of art, design, ergonomics and sustainability – with a huge fun factor! It has gone through six years of development, concentrating on design, ergonomics and the engineering process.

In this range we produce a Fixed and Mobile version and also a Tulpi-Seat-Ambient.

Tulpi-Bin

~Tulipa Vastum Situla~

Be kind to nature – keep the environment clean! This addition to the Tulpi product line stands out for its bright color and innovative design. With a cheerful and eye-catching appearance, the Tulpi-Bin attracts people to throw their garbage away responsibly. Disposing of waste will no longer be seen as a chore. The Tulpi-Bin helps people make our world cleaner and more beautiful.

Design

Just like many other tulip lovers from Western Europe, the designers of Tulpi-Design have taken their lead from this round, cup-shaped flower. It's flow and symmetry forms the basis for the Tulpi-Bin.

While the tulip feeds on water, sunlight and minerals, the Tulpi-Bin feasts on litter.

A solid round steel stem encloses a tubular frame. A ring for garbage bags ensures a large waste capacity. The whole is surrounded by three curved, composite petals.

Tulpi-Arabesque

~Tulipa Vidit Suum Dulcem Natum~

The tulip was already revered in Persia around 1050 BC, where this flower decorated the gardens of Isfahan and Baghdad. The tulip had great symbolic significance for the Persians and was synonymous with perfection and eternity.

Design

Tulpi-Arabesque was not only inspired by the tulip but also by typical Arabic ornaments, scripts and mosques. Like minarets, its shape is slender and elegant, seeming to come directly from the stories of 1001 nights. It comprises a solid round steel stem with a tubular frame. A ring for garbage bags ensures a large waste capacity. The whole unit is surrounded by two curved composite petals.

Tulpi-Bench

~Tulipa Scamnum~

Tulips have been depicted on numerous paintings and prints for centuries. This makes the tulip the most painted flower in history, beating even the rose for popularity. Those old prints and paintings still seem to inspire and encourage new forms of art.

With the Tulpi-Bench, the abstract form of the tulip was chosen, which is also reflected in the Tulpi-Design logo.

Design

The Tulpi-Bench creates the illusion that you are floating free of the ground. A feeling of sitting in a rocking-chair that might move at any moment. Robust and strong, yet graceful. Choose a natural look or a striking color: sit down and enjoy a moment together.
